

Size guide for our Trisuit

Choosing the appropriately sized cycling apparel is vital as it guarantees top performance of our garments: comfort, breathability, insulation and ease of body movement at the same time.

This trisuit like any other will look small in comparison to your body, just like the correct sized swimming costume does. They are designed to be tight, they stretch and hold you under a little bit of compression. As such, use the chart to measure against another triathlon/swim suit as opposed to your body. A 40 cm half chest measurement easily stretches to 94 cms, placing you in the 12-14 size range.
